- Plan and manage employee activities;
- Prepare exploration budgets, implement and execute activities while achieving goals on time and within established budgets as approved by the Board of Directors;
- Report to senior management on the progress of all projects, budget and expenditures;
- Oversee QA/QC protocols, data management, and the preparation of geological models to ensure the Company's exploration plans deliver relevant information to NI 43-101 standards;
- Participate in the selection of exploration contractors, consultants and employees, negotiate and execute contracts;
- Manage initiatives with First Nations with respect to Company projects;
- Uphold safety protocols for contractors and employees on project sites and compliance with all legal and governmental obligations and legislations;
- Act as the Qualified Person (P.Geo. designation) for the Company's Technical Reports, news releases, presentations and other related public documents or disclosures as required;
- Prepare Company news releases, update website materials, generate innovative promotional materials (i.e. video, powerpoint presentations, etc.), conduct presentations and interviews on behalf of the Company;
- Perform other managerial duties as assigned.

Requirements:

- Minimum 15 years of geological experience and 5 years of experience at an executive level in a similar role;

- Extensive experience working in gold, silver, and copper exploration and discoveries, including porphyry and several mineral deposit types;
- Maintain P.Geo. designations in provinces where we operate;
- Travel is a significant requirement of this role and is anticipated to include at least 50% travel with the remainder of the time working at the Company office in downtown Vancouver, BC;
- Obtain and maintain BC Project Manager (Mine Manager) certification.
- Reliable self-starter with a strong work ethic.
- Cooperative team player.
